Island cheers open space bond support

Date November 11, 2004

To the editor:

On behalf of Prudence Conservancy, I would like to thank the voters of Portsmouth for their overwhelming support of the Open Space and Recreation Bond at the polls.

By passing the bond referendum by 75 percent, Portsmouth voters joined with voters across the state in providing a mandate for protecting Rhode Island's special places, as well as providing adequate recreational space and open space throughout the state as a balance to development.

With the availability of these funds over the next several years, Prudence Conservancy and Aquidneck Island Land Trust will be well positioned to continue their work in Portsmouth.

Robert Marshall

Prudence Island

Mr. Marshall is chairman of the Prudence Conservancy.
